

New Zealand Death Certificates

A New Zealand death certificate is a registered document that provides evidence that the person's death was registered in New Zealand. This document is often required to be obtained for the purposes of medical research and deceased estates.

It is important that all information provided with your application is as accurate as possible. Incorrect information may result in your application being declined and the application fee is non-refundable.

The certificates are usually issued within 7 to 14 working days from the date of confirmation of a correct and completed application.
